WHEN THE BIG STORM COMES.

Courtesy, servant son of labor, vainly hunting for a job.
(Pephaos with vacant stomach, weary brain and empty bowl)
Through the actors are disgusting, and the drama long and tame,
Yet the powers that be are moving, and we'll get there just the same.
In this dreary land of Grover, neither milk nor honey flows;
Party chosen reveal only where the promised "clever" grows;
And 'tis hard lines for the toiler where no factory spins him,
But there's hope a little later
When

The Big Storm Comes!
O, 'tis coming, surely coming—we can see the lurid glare
Of swift lightning, charged with vengeance, that is gleaming on the air;
We hear the rumbling thunder from the wooded hills of Maine
That the far of Western mountains soon will echo back to us;
Then the armies of Protection will march forth in grand array
To drive Free-trade and Cleveland shams far over-
And a million feet shall follow to the rolling of the drums
As they sweep to certain victory
When

The Big Storm Comes!
Now the South is in the saddle and the Bourbon rule the roost,
With their outfit of Free-traders, cranks and Cozies to boot,
As they strive to topple over Thrift's fair temple to a day
And sit down on Northern progress in the true old Southern way
But the voters will be heard from ere this devil's work is done,
With an avalanche of ballots that will startle Washington
November's blasts will chill their souls, from Congressmen to bums,
And they'll huddle for their cellars
When

The Big Storm Comes!
The gross earning of the L. and N. for the first week in September were $377,360, a gain of $48,270 over 1893 and a loss of $46,130 as compared with the same week in 1892.

James N. Boyd of near Dover has the banner tomato patch of that vicinity. He gathered 1,300 boxes from it in one week, and the total product of the season will be enormous.

Powling, Assistant Editor and Manager of The Mercury, City Clerk of Carlisle, newspaper correspondent and general utility man and good fellow generally, is just recovering from a spell of severe sickness. Depot in this city last winter, but who is now stationed at Huntington, made a sneak on his many friends yesterday and went to Webbburg and married the belle of that place. BASEBALL TODAY.

Ashland and Maysville Play This Afternoon and Tomorrow.

The much lauded Ashland team will try conclusions with the home team at the park this afternoon and again tomorrow.

The Ashlanders have plugged up several weak spots in the team and are now stronger than ever before.

The locals have also been reinforced, and as there is a strong rivalry existing between these two teams, they promise a hotly contested game this afternoon.

Sparks and Nix will probably be in the points for the visitors and Wellner and Kehoe for the home team.

There will be a great crowd out to see Wellner and Sparks battle for supremacy. The game this afternoon will be called at 2:30.

This is how Manager Watson will play the locals this afternoon:

Pitcher—Wellner.
Catcher—Kehoe.
First base—Cox.
Second base—Frank.
Third base—Deisel.
Short stop—Heaman.
Left field—Wadsworth.
Center field—Taylor.

The Ashland aggregation, headed by Managers Bryan and Ireland, arrived this morning, and includes such well known players as "Pard" Collins, Jack O'Neil, Blackwell, Little Rooney, Becky Rhodes, and others.

The Ewing Fair is in full blast with big crowds each day. There is said to be the finest display of stock ever gathered in Fleming county.

CHARMING NUPTIALS.

PINEVILLE AND GERMANSTOWN JOIN HANDS IN WEDLOCK.

Marriage of Mr. F. J. Taylor and Miss Fannie Flora at Judge Dora's—List of Guests.

The writer was one of the honored guests at the Flora-Taylor nuptials Wednesday at high noon in Germanstown.

The charming home of Judge and Mrs. T. M. Dora was the scene of the happy union.

The ponds had been prettily arranged and decorated with rose, plants and wedding symbols, so that promptly at 12 o'clock the bride, on the arm of her soon-to-be husband, entered the large parlors and facing the Rev. W. D. Rice of the Christian Church responded to the words which united their lives for love or woe.

The bride, Miss Fannie Flora, was magnificently arrayed in the conventional bridal dress and veil of heavy white satin and softest tulle, and as her beautiful form rose from the altar, the opinion of a prettier girl never graced the bridal wreath.

The happy and fortunate groom is Mr. F. J. Taylor of Pineville, Ky., a young and highly successful business man of that industrious and prolific city.

The wedding breakfast was a most elaborate one, being served in ten courses. With the accompanying glitter of cut glass, silver and beautiful linen effects a more sumptuous feast was never spread, and it but more firmly rivets the high claims of Mrs. Dora as an artist in culinary things.

After partaking of the breakfast and changing costumes for journeying, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor took a carriage and were driven to this city, when at 4 p. m. they took the F. & Y. for Cincinnati, thence to their home in Pineville. All good wishes accompany them.

About fifty relations and intimate friends of the contracting parties were present, among them Dr. John A. Reed and wife, Miss Forman, Master Stanley Reed, W. C. Johnson, wife and daughter, Mrs. T. J. Winter, Miss Lillie Smoot, Mr. Harry Barkley, Miss Lottie Perrine, Mr. Isaac Woodward, Mr. Harry B. Owen, Maysville, Miss Wilbourn, Cynthiana, Miss Gertrude Worthington, Mr. Louis Smoot, Mr. John Evans, Fern Leaf, Mrs. Clara Flora, Miss Thorneille Flora, Morris Flora, Brookville, Mrs. Kate Calvert, Miss Fannie Reed, North Fork, Her. T. B. Cook, wife and daughter, W. R. Crisfield and wife, C. T. Calvert and wife, William Pepper and wife, Dr. O. C. Coburn, Mrs. Robert Humlog, Mr. Graham Humlog, Mrs. William Kahler, Mrs. H. A. Kirk, Miss Remmie Coleman, Miss Robbie Savage, Mr. John Elliott, Miss Daisy Pollock, Mrs. James Pollock, Mr. Dean Lloyd, Miss Lillie Pogue, Mrs. J. F. Walton, Germanstown, Mrs. Broshers, Middleboro, Miss Dora Reaser, Mr. Thornton Judd, Toluca, Mo., and Miss Prudence Pollock, Macks Walker, Anna Baugh, Jennie Tucker, Lottie Gallagher, Stella Pollock, the latter six of Miss Fannie's Sunday-school class.

The Ladies' Prayer-meeting will be held in the M. E. Church this afternoon at half-past 8 o'clock.

Thomas Wells has sold to Mrs. Amanda E. Davis 55 acres, 3 roads and 81 poles near Heintz Station for $13,954.06.

Returns Saturday Evening from the Breckinridge-Owens-Settle primary election will be received, commencing at 6 o'clock and on until the returns are in. Admission only 25 cents. Opera-house will remain open until all returns are in. Tickets may be had at Nelson's.

Thomas A. Davis, Editor of The Maysville Public Ledger, was here Monday to help entice the Republican brethren. The Democrats have reason to be thankful that Pugh and not Davis is the candidate for Congress.

THE MAYSVILLE MAN.

How "Beb" Blaine is Climbing the Ladder of Fame.

A recent number of Profitable Advertising, a trade journal of New York, contained this reference to an ex-Maysville man—E. R. Blaine.

"And the changes of six months—in New York. Mr. Spaulding of Cosmopolitan fame, now the New York Manager for The Ladies' Home Journal; and Mr. Meyer of The Cosmopolitan, and Mr. of The Queen of Fashion, and in Mr. Spaulding's place Mr. E. R. Blaine, related closely to the Blaines of Maine, but almost unknown in the advertising world.

"Very business like, earnest, methodical, progressive, potential, is Mr. Blaine in The Cosmopolitan's advertising management. He reminds me in physiognomy of his uncle, James G.—has features in the faces of those who succeed, especially the nose of conquest."

"JEFFERSON JONES OF KY-ARTER.

An Only Charge Against a Well-Known Grayson Leader.

U. S. Commissioner J. D. Jones, one of the best known lawyers in Kentucky, has been removed from office by Judge Barr of the U. S. Circuit Court for making fraudulent claims for fees.

He is past 60 years of age, and has had several important offices, having once been the Prosecuting Attorney in his county. Mr. Jones lives at Grayson, Carter county.

He was appointed Commissioner six years ago. The irregular claim was sent to District Attorney Smith in Louisville on July 4th. He found by comparison of the records that Jones had sent in a claim for the quarter beginning January 1st and ending March 28th, 1884, in which the cases tried by him were represented to have been tried on separate days, whereas he had really tried three or four cases on the same day.

The Government allows Commissioners $5 a day for every day that cases are tried, no matter whether two or a dozen are tried on the same day. So, by representing that each case was tried on a separate day, his fees were inflated.

A rule was issued for Jones to appear before Judge Barr last Monday for trial. He failed to appear and was removed from office. District Attorney Smith will present the facts to the Federal Jury, which meets in three weeks.

The penalty for making false claims against the Government is five years imprisonment in the penitentiary and $5,000 fine.

WHO WAS HE?

That is, Who Ate All the Biscuits of the Owens House?

The correspondent of The Courier-Journal, who went to Paris to "write up" the Owens meeting, appears to have struck Maysville's hungry ball tossers. Hear him!

For the first time since he came into the Ashland District your correspondent heard a number of men talk for at least twenty minutes without mentioning the Congressional race, though it did come in at the last. They were baseball players and were eating supper at the time. These athletes must have played very hard that afternoon or missed their dinner, for the water had to go back and forth a number of times replenishing empty stomachs. Once and at the first he brought one of the players, who had in him the making of a fine iron molder, only four biscuits for bread. The man looked at the plate scornfully and then said to the water rebuking:

"You must be a stranger here." The water hurried back for more bread.

The topic was a double play, which, some claimed, would have been "dressed up" by the most strenuous objector being the man who "dropped the ball. One player grew so excited that he actually stopped eating and arose from the table. To the amazement of those present, who did not know the ways of ball players, he told in a loud voice how he would have made the play, illustrating his words with his arms. From the importance of the double play the team must have lost the game.

They ate the close of the meal, or what the water hoped would be the close, a man came in and leaved over one, who must have been the Manager, and who had first attracted attention by ordering his eggs fried on the edge. After a whispered conversation the Manager said:

"Oh, the dough!"

"Yes," said the other, and he pulled out a roll of bills and counted down $50 on the table. "You see," he added, "that everlasting Owens meeting knocked us out."

All lovers of the National sport will sympathize with players who have to contend against an attraction that draws 30,000 people.

THE "WETS" ON TOP.

OHIO CATHOLIC KNIGHTS STICK TO THE SALOONISTS.

They Refuse to Amend Their Constitution So as to Keep Them Out of the Order.

The Catholic Knights of Ohio, assembled in Convention at Dayton, tackled a knotty question, and owing to a division in sentiment there was a lively and spirited fight.

The Committee on Law submitted a proposition to amend a section of the Constitution defining what applications shall not be received. The amendment suggested the exclusion of saloon-keepers, bartenders, agents for and employees of breweries and distilleries, hotel proprietors, restaurant keepers or grocers who have sold at their place of business or any individual who may be personally engaged in the manufacture or retailing of alcoholic liquors.

In discussing the amendment the Cincinnati delegates were largely opposed to the exclusion of the class referred to, and they fought it stubbornly.

During the debate it was shown that there were 108 saloon-keepers in the Order, among whom there were three deaths last year.

Rev. E. F. Elder, acting as proxy for Archbishop Elder, made a vigorous appeal for the exclusion of saloon-keepers. Said he:

"We want to get rid of that stigma which sticks to the Catholic Church, namely, the saloon element, which the church denounces, and I, as the proxy of Archbishop Elder, but repeat his words when he said: 'I am heartily in favor of the future interest and welfare of the Catholic Church in Ohio, and I hope the Convention now in session will prohibit the admission of saloon-keepers in the future; and I stand here to say that if the saloon-keeping element keeps on its present course it will not be ten years before the Catholic and Protestant Churches will rise up as a unit, and such an indignation will go up as will wipe out the saloon and retire it to the place where it belongs.'"

In conclusion he declared that the Order should be pure, and he urged the Catholic society to adopt such a measure.

The proposed amendment was opposed by Rev. J. A. Meyers of Cincinnati, who took the floor in the defense of the saloon-keepers, who he said were given the authority by law to conduct the regulation and sale of liquor. He said that there were many good saloon-keepers in the church, and argued that retarding their admission to the Order would drive them from the church.

So animated became the speakers that the discussion on several occasions almost became of a personal character.

A vote, however, showed that the "wets" were in the majority, and the amendment was not—70 yeas, 43 nays, 43.

The saloon-keepers and friends of same are jubilant over that they regard a decided victory.

In the Police Court yesterday a jury acquitted William P. Elmer of the charge of selling liquor to a minor.

Is every patriotic American will purchase American goods only for his consumption he will lessen the disastrous effects of the Free-trade Gorman Tariff Bill. The Ledger invites all to join in such a movement, and to sign the following pledge:
I hereby pledge myself to buy American goods only, whether of the farm, mine or factory, and to use my influence to have others do the same.

HORSEMAN at Lattoria have subscribed $25,000 to defeat BRECKINRIDGE. He is too strong a competitor in his business.

Just as soon as the good and great and only GROVER heard the news from Maine he straightway got a jug of malt and went off on another fishing tour in a Government steamer.

The Illinois Steel Mill of Joliet will take a hand in the reduction of wages. The rod department, which has been closed for three months, will start up next week under a new scale of wages, which is from 15 to 20 per cent. lower than the old scale, thus the Democratic Tariff Bill is a boon to the American workman.

"We believe that all articles which cannot be produced in the United States, except luxuries, should be admitted free of duty, and that all imports coming in competition with the production of America labor there should be duties levied equal to the difference between wages abroad and wages at home."

The foregoing is a plank from the Michigan Republican state platform. It is a declaration of Republicanism, and the Republican party of the whole Nation and of every state stand on it with both feet.

GOVERNOR STONE and Treasurer EVANS of Mississippi voluntarily gave bond in the Government's action against them. The Governor also surrendered the plates from which the objectionable warrants were printed, for use in the action against the firm that did the work. The arrest of the officers has caused a sensation in Mississippi, and is considered an insult to the dignity of the state. It should not be forgotten by these proud Mississippians that it is a full-fledged Democratic Administration that stepped on their dignity.

SECRETARY CARLISLE, in a letter addressed to Senator CAYTON of Louisiana, officially declared that under the new Tariff Law it would be unlawful to appoint Inspectors, Weighers and Testers of bounty sugars under the McKinley Act, and further that Congress had made no appropriation for the employment of such officials the laws of the United States prohibit the employment of such persons to serve without pay. When the new Tariff Law annuls a solemn contract entered into between the Government and its citizens, it looks like it was about time for the sugar planters of Louisiana to break away from the party that is responsible for such an act of bad faith.

"Here comes the good times," exclaims a Democratic Free-trade paper, and then it goes on to tell about the general resumption of the glass business in New Jersey, adding: "By Wednesday there will hardly be an idle glass factory at Millville, Clayton, Williamstown, Glassboro, Malaga, Bridgeton and Woodbury. All the factories went into full blast. The coming season promises to be the best for years in the glass trade; and the outlook for continued work throughout the season is excellent." And then this Free-trade oracle says: "There is a general decrease of 20 per cent. in the glass scale to be operated in New Jersey." There you have it; the prosperity of American manufacturers now depends solely and alone on the reduction of American wages to the European standard. Whenever American workmen are content to work for European wage Free-trade will be a howling success in this country.

RESOLUTIONS.
Passed by the G. A. R. House—Demand Made on President Cleveland. Resolution on Anarchy and Strikes Tabbed.
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 14.—At the afternoon session of the Grand Army men resolutions were passed. One called the attention of state departments and posts to the character of certain school books used in some of the public schools of the country, and cited a report of the department of Pennsylvania, setting forth that many text books used in schools are full of works of anarchy sympathizers, and contain erroneous misstatements relating to the war. This was adopted, and also a resolution requesting departments and posts to financially assist poor soldiers' orphans desirous of securing a high school education. Henry Applegate greeted the resolution directing the incoming commander-in-chief to endeavor to secure the reinstatement of such comrades as may have been unjustly discharged from government service, and also to protect such veterans as yet remain in office.
As a rider to this resolution, the following was also carried amid vociferous shouts:
That the Grand Army of the Republic, in twenty-eighth annual assembly assembled, respectfully request the president of the United States to direct the heads of the several departments of the government to cause to be examined and revised, and if necessary, to be replaced by more accurate and reliable material, the text books used in the public schools, which give them a preference be faithfully carried out.
The following resolutions were introduced by Lafayette post, 140, of New York city:
Whereas, The maintenance of American liberty rests upon the preservation of individual rights and obedience to the law; and
Whereas, These fundamental principles have been flagrantly disregarded by so-called strikers, the rights of individuals to labor overruled by violence, private property destroyed, life taken and accurate and judicial authority set aside;
Whereas, Such outrages have become so frequent as to indicate an approach to a condition of anarchy; and
Whereas, It is the duty of the Grand Army of the Republic to vigorously protest against the toleration of such outrages, and insist upon the fullest protection of individual rights as essential to the maintenance of American liberty.
Resolved, That all who violate from whatever cause, must be vigorously suppressed by all the power of the state, and those guilty of overt acts, intimidation or threats must be severely punished.
It was stated Thursday night that these resolutions created an animated debate in the committee, and that the motion to table them was adopted by a majority of only one vote.
A resolution expressing sympathy with the family of the late Comde de la Roche, who has been killed by a rising vote, and a letter of sympathy was also ordered sent to Andrew G. Curtin, the venerable war governor of this state, who has been called to attend the encampment owing to his serious illness.
A proposition that members of the Sons of Veterans be admitted by past meetings of the G. A. R. was ruled out of consideration on the ground that it involved a change in the constitution, and that the usual thirty days' notice had not been given to the delegates.
Concerning the proposed monument in Washington to the memory of Gen. Grant, the committee reported that the statue and pedestal had been finished and stored pending action by the joint committee for the committee regarding a date for the completion of the ceremonies.
The incoming commander-in-chief arrived at the city and was formally installed with the usual ceremonies and shortly after 5 o'clock, with three cheers and a tiger for Pittsburgh and the people, the encampment came to an end.
